

ARTS & CULTURE MENU 10

Performing Arts

Click here for your guide to free online theatre, drama and musicals. For instance, Nottingham Playhouse is announcing a three week season including a new work by James Graham entitled Bubble, to be shown either online or with live audience members on 23 and 24 October (tickets £22.50 -£25). The piece follows a couple deciding whether or not to live together during quarantine, with two versions of their lives playing out.

To get your fix of dance, try these contemporary pieces produced by our very own Anne Beresford, Corey Baker Dance's Lying Together in Hong Kong (see picture below). And Spaghetti Junction Dance. Both films were shown on BBC's Culture in Quarantine.

Also the Royal Ballet will be back on stage with the orchestra of the Royal Opera House on 9 October, with some spectacular ballet highlights. The Royal Ballet Back on Stage will be broadcast live (7.30pm BST) via Vimeo, priced at £16 per household and will be available for 30 days. Click here.

Next Up Comedy Laughter Lounge is streaming (via Zoom) 14 intimate events from 28 September-4 October – a combination of live comedy and insider chats by acclaimed comedians and industry pioneers.

Folk fans among you might like the The Young Uns' monthly online TV show, streaming live on their Facebook and YouTube channel. They invite donations to help cover their costs.

Join Sir Bryn Terfel online on 4 October to watch his performance at the Barbican with the Britten Sinfonietta. He will be singing works such as Bach's cantata 'Ich habe genug', songs by Finzi and lighter material by Ivor Novello, You can watch online for £12.50.

Museums and Galleries

British Museum Curator, Susannah Walker, takes a closer look at the life and work of Dorothy Hawksley, a talented but enigmatic artist (1884–1970), who remained independent of any mainstream art movements.

The Royal Academy continues to have loads of exhibits and resources. If you'd like to try your hand at life-drawing, why not visit their Life Drawing shorts. You only need paper and a pen or pencil, and you can share your finished work online.

And More..

Understories is a five minute piece of music and poetry telling the story of Cinderloo (Telford's Peterloo), which will be remembered early next year - music from Whalebone and poetry from Jean Akin. To learn more about the background or get involved with Heritage Lottery funded local work to remember it, click on the Cinderloo Remembered website.

Get Out and Get Arty with Sara Lanyon – a Shropshire Wildlife Trust video – she is drawing and painting local wildlife and trees.

Corey Baker Dance Ltd: Lying Together in Hong Kong

Most of the links from previous editions still work, so there is plenty to keep you entertained!